To Jeni

As a resident of Pyrford for the last 34 years to me the development planned is far too large. I know that you have to build a certain number of new 'affordable' houses but to build that number is extremely excessive. How would the area cope with traffic, schooling, doctors to name but a few of the necessities that any population needs! The infra-structure can only just about cope as it is. I do not object to building on the proposed land but to the amount that you believe would be feasible.
