The planning proposals for Byfleet with use of the remaining green belt are unacceptable to the residents of this village. More houses mean more public services needed more parking more congestion more school places and above all health services which is not available at all in Byfleet. There seems none or very little infrastructure to be put in place to address these concerns. More houses means more flood risk regardless of these so called flood tanks nothing has been done for this village except clearing a few drains and ditches for years. You have deliberately ignored the wishes of 2,500 residents of this village. The proposals for development on the A245 will make the present congestion seem normal. I understand while we lose a substantial amount of our green belt Woking retains 98%. Byfleet is full I wonder if your very expensive consultants looked at any sights perhaps around Hook Heath.
