My main concern in this proposal is in regard to the pressure that such an influx of population will have on the roads surrounding and in particular the A245, which is already under severe, pressure and over-populated by vehicles during much of the daytime. This already has an impact on the emergency services, which can only be further exacerbated by these proposals.

The need for additions to the infrastructure PRIOR to the commencement of such developments throughout the three villages is paramount. There are already great pressures on the services available in West Byfleet in regard to the schooling of its children and provision of medical services. The impact of the arrival of an additional several thousand people would be devastating for the existing residents. General medical procedures performed at our local hospitals are often subjected to significant delays and postponements because, we are told, of limited access to services available. Again the influx of very substantial numbers would further dilapidate that service.

A further concern is in regard to flooding. Looking at the current mapping it is clear that there is a possibility of some flooding in the area. Substantial building will further erode the natural drainage and create additional risks. As a minimum consideration must be given to the provision of an alternative route around West Byfleet so that the current congestion on the A245 may be alleviated rather than added to.
