Dear Ms Jackson

Pyrford Green Fields

I am writing to object in the strongest possible terms to the proposal to build hundreds of houses on two fields in the beautiful village of Pyrford. It is hard to think of a more inappropriate site for a high density development.

I wonder if the 'planning officer' who thought it was a good idea to put a ring round these fields on his map – and who I am sure we can safely assume doesn't live anywhere near the area – realises it is a green field site. A green field site should be both green and a field. It will be neither of these when the developers have finished with it. What is the point of designating an area as a green field site if it can be changed at the stroke of a pen. It may come as a surprise to you but many people believe a green field site is exactly what it says and plan their decisions on where to live accordingly.

For the avoidance of doubt in the future perhaps you should introduce a new category "Green field site until we decide otherwise".

Yours sincerely
