Please give us your comment	We recently moved to Pyrford from South London. A huge part of our decision to move to Pyrford having so spent 2 years looking any many area was because it has a sense of space and doesn't feel overly populated - there is beautiful green/open space nearby, good amenities and good schools. Having lived here just a few weeks, it is already apparent that the level of traffic in the area is a significant concern, travelling anywhere by car after 4pm is problematic. I simply don't see how the road network in the area will cope with 420+ new dwellings behind Lovelace Drive and on Upshot Lane. And how will the already oversubscribed schools cope? Additionally what type of housing is planned - will it be in keeping with the general area? I don't see how it can be when so many houses are planned for the size of site in question which can only have further negative impact on the area.
Proposed modifications - Please explain what changes you consider should be made (for example, to the text,	Both sites - Upshot Lane and Lovelace Drive - should not be considered for dwellings. My preference is strongly that neither are built on but given it's unlikely the council will actually listen to public opinion and build anyway, only one of the sites should be considered, definitely not both. It's inherently wrong to build on any kind of greenbelt - I'm not sure I understand the purpose of designating greenbelt areas which are considered 'untouchable' if the council can go ahead and build on them anyway? I thought this land was sacred and should absolutely remain that way without question.

the site boundary)
