Site allocations Would you like to Please give us your comment	Site UA49 Camphill Tip West Byfleet Objecting Significant woodland in this area. The UK is proportionally the least tree-covered nation in Europe. It is crazy to be destroying trees and hedgerows to build houses. I do not accept that we need more houses. We need fewer people.
Proposed modifications - Please explain what changes you consider should be made (for example, to the text, to the site boundary)	If the authorities deem areas suitable for housing, I ask you to at least leave woodland and individual trees standing. Established trees greatly enhance any new housing estate. The clear-cutting of trees along the Hoe Valley several years ago was hugely destructive, and clearly very much against local residents wishes.

As a nation we desperately need fewer people. We do not need more housing. With massive soil degradation the UK will be almost entirely reliant on imports for food within a few decades. It is lunacy to increase the human population. We should be looking at being a truly sustainable nation within several hundred years. The more housing we build, the less land we have to grow food to feed our dangerously excessive human population. Madness.
