Subject: housing proposals for woking

I strongly object to the housing proposals for the Pyrford Area.

The infrastructure, health facilities and amenities can barely cope now, with 400 new properties and families coming into the area there will be absolute chaos and will require an enormous amount of expenditure to cater for extra facilities etc.

The conversion of countryside to bricks and mortar cannot be conducive to the global warming plus all the extra car emissions belting out pollution while stuck in the traffic grid locks.

Whatever is happening to "Englands green and pleasant land?"
